

Who's Doing What?

Bill Bienapfl, Chevron writes: I finally retired at age 73, after 49 years of working in the Ag industry, and bought a winter home in St. George, UT. We are now traveling, golfing, playing with Hot Rods and living the life. As they say "It is just another day in paradise!" Hope to do this for a long time.

Tawnee and Kevin Darrington, both Chevron, write: We have completed the second of two missions for their church since Tawnee retired in 2011. The first mission was in Guatemala where they served from 2012 to 2013. In May 2017 they returned from Puerto Rico where they served for 18 months. They are now hoping to get some remodeling completed on their cabin in Idaho.

Mrs. Antoinette Heinemann, survivor of Gulf retiree Robert, writes: Just turned 90. Reside at Dominican Village assisted living in Amityville. Sons with their spouses, visit often together with the six grandchildren and 2 great grandchildren. Send my best to my Gulf family of friends.

Robert Langley, Warren Petroleum, writes; Consulting – midstream energy business.

Julian Lanier, Gulf, writes: Recovering from health problems, but doing O.K. now.

Louis Rieg, COPI/Gulf, writes: This has been a banner year – attending Notre Dame's class of 1952-65th Reunion the first weekend of June, 2017. A great affair reviewing times with classmates – over 30 attended with spouse or a family member. On December 29, 2016 we celebrated our 60th wedding anniversary, with a Diocesan Mass for 50, 60 and 70th anniversaries in late 2017.

Edwin Rinehart, Texaco, writes: Active in our church, playing golf, on Board of Directors of Santa's Elves/Santa Claus Museum and serve as Treasurer of the museum and Santa Claus Indiana Sr Citizens., Inc. Enjoy answering letters to Santa from kids all over the world during December each year. Santa's Elves answered over 20,000 letters last year. We travel to visit our kids and grandkids in Oklahoma and Texas.

Therese Sheridan, CALTEX, writes: "Living the dream" in an assisted living community in Holmdel. 95 years young!

Dick Valenzuela, Chevron, writes: Well at 79 years young I'm feeling good and still able to do things by myself. My hobbies are still my hot rods – just finished a 1932 Roadster Pick and starting on a 1956 Ford P/U. Good speed to all!
