

“WHO’S DOING WHAT?”

Francis Flynn (new member-Texaco), writes I was an employee of Texaco for 33 years. Retired in 1982 and a member of the Texaco Retirees Club (Delaware Valley).

John Hamilton (Gulf) writes, a 93 yr old WWII Vet – still driving – cutting grass. In October will take a 5 mi Crop Walk – raise funds. Starting my 49th yr on the NEMAP Food Pantry Board. Continue intercity work. Last July, my wife and I celebrated our 71st wedding anniversary – 4 children, 6 grand and 3 great grands.

Robert Iannace Sr (new member-Texaco), writes, as an afterthought I’m going to give you a brief rundown of who I am! I am a 92 yr. old veteran of WWII. I was a multi-craft supervisor for 30 years at Texaco’s Eagle Point Refinery. I am now a handicapped old refinery worker.

Henry Langella (Gulf), writes, enjoying retirement at age 91, in pretty good health.

Robert Life (Chevron) writes, retired in April. Traveling with spouse to South Africa for a picture safari and Alaska for salmon fishing, plus spoiling granddaughter.

Robert McDermott (new member-Texaco), writes, retired in '84 era, Eagle Point – been a long time since my site visits to stations, even longer since I was on the site with hard hat and plans, but still have the memories. Right now – I am approaching my 93rd birthday in October – (HAPPY Birthday!). Raised 10 kids. I am caregiver to a daughter as much as she is my house mate and companion – she tends to yell a bit more since my hearing seems selective 😊! Life is good. Got 22 grand kids plus 2 great grandsons and still fly across country to see family.

Rodger Salman (Texaco) writes, last year we joined, the years go fast.

Steven Vizner (new member Texaco) writes, just relocated to Venice, FL would like to meet fellow retirees in this area.
